BENDERSVILLE PARADE ROUTE IS SHORTENED

Bendersville will have a new parade route for its Memorial Day observance Saturday afternoon.

John Hoffman, chairman of the committee arranging the annual memorial exercises, said the parade will form, as in the past, in the community "Apple Bowl" baseball field back of the community hall.

At 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon the procession will move on Park St. to Laurel Lane. There it will turn to the right and go north on Peach Lane at the Methodist Church. It will turn left on Peach Lane to N. Main St. where it will again turn left to the square, then march up Church St. to the cemetery. Smaller children will join the parade at the Methodist Church.

Former Wife Of FDR Jr. Is Found Hanged In A Locked Bathroom Of Her Home

GROSSE POINTE FARMS, Mich. (AP)—An inquest was to be held today into the death of Mrs. Ethel du Pont Roosevelt Warren, heiress and former wife of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

Mrs. Warren, 49, a member of the wealthy Du Pont chemical and industrial family and one-time Eastern society beauty, was found dead in a bathroom of her home in this Detroit suburb Tuesday.

Police said Mrs. Warren apparently hanged herself.

COUNCIL BUYS COOLING UNIT, ACCEPTS GIFT OF LAMP FIRM

Littlestown borough councilmen Tuesday evening accepted a gift of two gas post lamps for the front of the borough building, ordered an air conditioning unit for the police office and accepted a quit claim deed on a strip of property which will permit widening Ocker Ave. from E. King St. to the first alley north.

Council also approved the recommendation of the utility committee to improve borough street lighting facilities by adding three new lumens lamps and 100 other brighter lamps at an estimated annual cost increase of $833.56. Robert Gouker told council that the changes could be completed before the bi-centennial celebration.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS

The bicentennial program is pushing council in other areas as well. Stuart Long reported that Crouse Park improvements are underway and that the trees have been trimmed according to specifications. He reported also that painting will begin soon in the pavilion and was authorized by council to have the area around the pavilion and walkways north and south paved at an estimated cost of $965. President Howard Myers told councilmen that the antique cars which will participate in the bicentennial parade will be judged in Crouse Park.

An agreement with Joseph Milson in exchange for the quit claim deed was accepted by council by a 3-2 vote, and provides that the borough will eventually install a curb line and sidewalk along Ocker Ave., near the Milson home, grade and fill the lawn to the pavement and curb and pave the driveway to the Milson garage. Council is not bound to provide the services within any specified time, it was pointed out, but discussion indicated that the work will be done when the street is repaved.

SET WAGE SCALE

Walter Myers, health and safety committee chairman, recommended that the borough hire a part-time janitor for the borough building at $1 an hour, and borough Manager-secretary Rodger Keefe was authorized to pay new summer employees $1.25 an hour.

Council sanctioned the appointment of five members to the planning commission and the secretary was instructed to set up an organizational meeting for the new board, which includes Richard Selby, five years; L. D. Snyder, four years; Theron Spangler, three years; Marvin Breighner, two years, and Lloyd Crouse, one year.

Who Lost A Hereford Cow?

A Hereford cow found trespassing early Sunday morning on a property of Hoade's Corner, at the intersection of the Fairfield Rd. and the road to Waynesboro, remains unclaimed today. It needs milking and shows considerable irritation when anyone enters the stable in which it has been placed by those who found her.

Thomas Hoade reported finding the cow. This morning he reported to The Gettysburg Times that he has been unsuccessful in his attempts to find the owner.

"I've done everything I could to find the owner," he said. "I called all the persons residing in the area and none report losing a cow. There isn't anything wrong with the animal. It does not seem injured. It could not possibly have fallen off a truck and yet it remains unclaimed."

"I reported to Radio Station WGET and the incident was broadcast repeatedly over the station to no avail. The station repeated the broadcast today and still no response."

"Someone lost a cow . . . but who is it?"

SELBY SPEAKS TO EXCHANGE ABOUT RADIO

Richard Selby, program director for WGET, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Exchange Club in the Lamp Post Tea Room at which the club marked "Radio Month."

Selby had as the theme of his talk "Radio, The Sound of Year-Round Pleasure." He said 60,000,000 Americans "start their day with some form of radio entertainment."

"Portability of radio has led to an increase in the number of radio stations by 1,200 within the last ten years. At present there are 5,500 radio stations in the United States, and there are 200,000,000 radio receiving sets in the nation."

"Radio is a great medium to stimulate business," Selby said, adding that business spent $789,000,000 nationally to advertise on radio in the last year.

"DESIGNED TO SERVE"

"Radio as we know it today began with KDKA, Pittsburgh, the first commercial station. The first election results coverage by radio were those of the Harding-Cox Presidential election in 1920."

Reports Second Red Missile Site In NVN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today there may be a second Soviet installation in the vicinity of Hanoi, North Viet Nam, armed with what he termed missile-associated equipment.

He told a news conference this represents a deepening of the Soviet involvement in support of Communist North Viet Nam.

Rusk did not go into detail when asked about reports that there are more than one surface-to-air missile installations near the North Vietnamese capital.

But he acknowledged that "there may be a second site in the immediate Hanoi area. We do not know if there may be more."

The State Department acknowledged earlier this month that a missile site was under preparation in the Hanoi area.

WILL REVIVE COMMUNITY STUDY GROUP

The Adams County technical action panel, the Adams County commissioners and the executive committee of the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association seemed agreed at various meetings Tuesday that the county community development committee should be revived to make a study of the county's resources and perhaps suggest some proposals for action.

Jack Bergstrom, assistant to the director of agricultural extension at Pennsylvania State University, Tuesday afternoon met with the technical action panel and the county commissioners to the Adams Electric Cooperative building and then met Tuesday evening with the extension executive committee in the Topper building.

At both places he reported on rural area development committees, known under various names including community development committees, in 38 of Pennsylvania's counties. He noted that their activities have included development of farm vacation enterprises, craft enterprises, providing special training under the Manpower Act, clean-up and beautification programs, expansion of marketing programs, development of the blueberry industry and establishment of a dairy processing plant.

TO REVIVE COMMITTEE

An Adams County community development committee five years ago made a survey of the county's resources and since then has been dormant. It was suggested at the afternoon meeting that it be revived to make a new survey of community resources to determine what changes have taken place in five years and then take such action as may seem feasible. At the evening meeting, the Extension Association executive committee voted to "make some further effort in the line of community development" and decided to hold a special meeting in the near future to consider the idea "in depth."

Members of the technical action panel include Glenn Miller, of the Adams County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; Robert Flanders of Farm

SUES FOR HIS COMMISSION

Safe-Buy Real Estate Agency, Inc., Mansfield, has brought suit in county court against Joseph A. and Jane Z. Bous, McKnightstown, alleging they did not pay salesman Philip Miller, Gettysburg R. 6, a commission of $8,900 on the sale of Colton Motel.

According to the action in assumpsit filed for Safe-Buy by Atty. Donald G. Oyler in the prothonotary's office, Mr. and Mrs. Bous, then owners of Colton Motel, Steinwehr Ave., on September 24, 1964, entered into an oral agreement with Miller, a salesman for Safe-Buy, for Miller to secure someone to purchase the motel.

The fee to be paid Miller, according to the complaint, was five percent of the total purchase price. The complaint alleged that "this is the usual commission for real estate brokers" in the Gettysburg area.

According to the complaint, Miller interested Emory N. Young in the motel and on October 30, 1964, Young purchased the Colton Motel for $178,000.

The complaint alleges that Miller has not been paid the five percent commission, $8,900, and that Mr. and Mrs. Bous refuse to pay the commission.

Long Sought Item Is Found In Old Times

Yesterday's newspaper may not be worth much to most people, but one from yesterday can be a valuable possession.

Mrs. F. E. Coulson, The Gettysburg correspondent in York Springs for many years, experienced a pleasant surprise Monday evening when a neighbor, Mervin Masemore, called at her home with an edition of The Times dated May 24, 1915. The newspaper was in an old trunk he had purchased Saturday afternoon at a public sale in Gettysburg, and his curiosity drove him to read it carefully.

One of the news stories was the death of Mrs. C. T. Mansberger, Mrs. Coulson's mother, who died when her children were very young, and no one in the family had a clipping of the account of her death.

Mr. Masemore was happy to contribute "yesterday's newspaper" to the family, who gathered at Mrs. Coulson's home Tuesday evening to read their mother's obituary of 50 years ago.

ROSENBERGER PRESIDENT OF TORCH CLUB

Dr. Russell S. Rosenberger was elected president of the Gettysburg-Adams County Torch Club at its meeting Tuesday evening in the United Church of Christ social room.

Other officers named were Dr. Harry W. Pfanz, vice-president; Attorney H. Thomas Pyle, secretary; Elmer M. Gruver, treasurer; and Dr. Neil Beach, Martin H. Cronlund, H. Edgar Riegle and Daniel A. Skelly Jr., directors.

Attorney Donald P. McPherson Jr. spoke on "Reapportionment in Pennsylvania." Recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court in connection with reapportionment "may rank in importance with the famed Dred Scott decision," Mr. McPherson said.

MEANS PA. CHANGES

He said: "The recent cases of Baker versus Carr, and Reynolds versus Sims, and companion cases on reapportionment, will be studied for years to come as landmarks in constitutional history."

Noting that the recent Supreme Court rulings support the principle of "one person—one vote," thus basing representation in legislature on population, attorney McPherson observed that this should mean a change in Pennsylvania's constitutional provision that each county should have at least one representative in the house. "Obviously the counties in Pennsylvania are unequal in population."

Under court order, Attorney McPherson said: "The Pennsylvania Legislature must enact a valid plan of reapportionment not later than September 1, or the court will take appropriate action. Under the recent Supreme Court decisions the apportionment in Pennsylvania must provide for equal representation throughout the Commonwealth."

HOLY EUCHARIST

The Rev. Robert A. Pearson, vicar of the Prince of Peace Episcopal Church, will conduct the Holy Eucharist Thursday at 5:15 p.m. in observance of Ascension Day.

CUMBERLAND BUILDERS ARE GIVEN WARNING

Cumberland Twp. supervisors today reminded persons planning to build homes in the township or connect private drives to township roads, that the township has a number of ordinances pertaining to subdivisions, to building permits and to connecting roads.

The reminder came because the supervisors are fearful that they may have to stop some one who has half completed a house and impose the penalties provided in the ordinances.

Up to the present, both the supervisors and the people building homes have been fortunate. By dint of a lot of extra work, the supervisors, developers and builders have been able to come to agreement in order to satisfy the ordinances.

Richard Deaner, secretary of the Cumberland board of supervisors, said that a meeting of the board at his home Monday evening the supervisors:

"Strongly urged that persons buying land in the township make sure that the land has been properly subdivided and that the plans have been approved by the supervisors."

"Stated that any person desiring to sell lots for building purposes must follow the procedures outlined in the Cumberland Twp. Subdivision Control Resolutions, copies of which are available from the supervisors or at the home of the secretary."

The supervisors also noted: "There are certain requirements, contained in ordinance No. 5, regulating the connecting of private drives, streets or roads to a township road, which must be met."

386th American Killed As Viet Cong Ambushes Jeep Northwest Of Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—One American was killed, another was wounded and a third was missing today following a Viet Cong ambush 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

In the air war, U.S. warplanes battered military installations and transport facilities in North Viet Nam on a round-the-clock basis.

The Americans were ambushed Tuesday as they were traveling in a jeep from the Special Forces camp at Ben Soi to Tay Ninh.

An irregular South Vietnamese strike force made contact with the Viet Cong, and a regional company accompanied by two American advisers was sent into the area.

11 CONG KILLED In the firefight that followed 11 Viet Cong were reported killed. South Vietnamese losses were four killed and four wounded.

The American who was killed, an enlisted man, was the 386th American combat death in South Viet Nam since December 1961. This is one more than the American battle dead in the Spanish-American war.

BIGLERVILLE HIGH AWARDS 87 DIPLOMAS

Rev. Francis Reinberger, professor of practical theology and chaplain of the Lutheran Seminary, Tuesday evening listed three elements high school graduates should consider in developing "A Formula for Tomorrow." In his commencement address to graduates of Biglerville High School.

"Graduation makes us different people as we view the world of tomorrow," Prof. Reinberger said. "We need a different philosophy." The first element is "a remembrance for the past," and its contribution to values and knowledge, he said. "You must enter this new world with enthusiasm," he advised, "and make certain your dreams can direct you in finding a place in which you can make a contribution to history." While dreams may be expected to fall short of goal, "enthusiasm and self-confidence will direct you to some fulfillment of purpose."

The third element in facing tomorrow, he continued, is that "you must realize that tomorrow is a mysterious thing. Success is never guaranteed, but you may take this first step in your new world by faith. You must trust in God, for He is the only one who knows the mystery of the life you face tomorrow."

Dr. W. North Sterrett, vice-president of the Upper Adams School Board, presented diplomas to 87 graduates, 60 percent of whom will be enrolled by September in institutions of higher learning. Rev. Dr. O. D. Cogle gave the invocation and benediction and music was provided by the high school band. Approximately 700 parents and friends attended the program.

Today's Talk

ON ACCEPTING
We must each accept life for what it is to us. Regrets and complaints serve no useful purpose. Marrying our own potentialities we have but to do and to dare to go forward and the farther we are able to go the more we are inspired to go further.

What a wonderful array of human beings have accepted their inheritance, be it poverty, ill health, or an unhappy environment, yet who have risen above each or else conquered each through an inspired will and faith. Many a one can look back upon his or her youth and thank God that he or she was born poor and had to struggle for every gain ahead. We only appreciate the things that we earn through accepting, in good heart, whatever comes our way to master.

Every difficulty is a challenge. By schooling ourselves to accept whatever faces us we come to know that for which we are best capable and so gain confidence and courage to handle any emergency when it arrives. This gospel of acceptance may evolve itself into our best asset.

Changes and emergencies are forever arriving in all our lives. Their acceptance, willingly, and without complaint, becomes the key to their happy handling. Defeat in anything is never a pleasant thing to accept, but it may be only a way-station to a great victory! Learning to accept whatever each day may bring forth can well be the prelude to a happy philosophy of life.

The good sport accepts his defeat and the victory of his opponent — magnanimously! None of us lose all the time. Triumphs of every color await us all — ahead! Never should we ever lose hope. A continual happy outlook keeps light within the heart. None of us have to accept darkness as our abode.

Each one of us has his own selective capacity. We need only to accept that which we believe will be good for us, whether of mind or body. Our thoughts are our own, and it is our privilege to accept the thoughts of others or to reject them. We should accept even the weather in good grace!

Just Folks

THE SPINSTER

The spinster, left by choice or fate
To go through life without a mate,
Escapes the endless, fretful tasks
Which man of every woman asks.
She doesn't have to mend his socks,
Put back his shirt studs in the box,
Or follow him to straighten out
The things which he has flung about.
She doesn't have to climb the stair
To find the tie he wants to wear
And say, the argument to close:
"My dear, it's right beneath your nose!"
She's never told her pie and cake
Are not what mother used to make.
Yet she may think the happier life
Belongs to every worried wife
Who wonders, while she's forced to wait,
What keeps her husband out so late.
A man, with all the cares he brings,
His utter disregard of things;
His heedless ways; his endless cries
For help to find his shirt and ties;
With all his faults, both great and small,
Seems better than no man at all.

PEOPLE OF
SIAN, CHINA,
LIVE IN CAVES

Editor's Note — U.S. reporters are barred from Red China, but the chief of Southam News Services in Canada now is touring that vast country and is making his dispatches available to The Associated Press.

By CHARLES LYNCH

SIAN, China (AP) — In Egypt, I was staggered by the loads carried by camels. The camels were pretty staggered, too.

Here in Sian, often called the birthplace of China, I am staggered by the loads hauled by women.

My feelings about women are not the same as my feelings about camels, so it is with some pain that I witness the good ladies of Sian straining at the shafts of their cargo rickshaws, moving the goods of the city through the streets.

BIGGER LOADS FOR MEN

The men, of course, haul even bigger loads — huge blocks of concrete, and as many as six logs, each a foot thick and 10 feet long; cargoes of coal, cargoes of mud, cargoes of everything.

In the museum here, they have a chart to show that in the bad old days, five men equaled one horse in the economy of China. To judge by the sights in the streets of Sian, they have now cut that down to two men equalling one horse, in terms of pulling power.

The bicycle rickshaws used as taxis here are larger than the ones in Peking. The Peking models carry only one passenger—but these, like the ones in India, have broader seats and one can seat two adults and two children. At that, it's doubtless better than hauling cement on foot.

"Write what you see," they say, and what one sees in Sian includes 12 men working on a single pothole in the street; people living in caves while a huge hotel built for the departed Russians stands empty; the ancient walls of the city falling down—a city that fails to measure up to the propaganda image claimed for it.

MISSSES REALITIES

The current issue of "China Reconstructs," a glossy Peking periodical, has a feature article on Sian that fails to prepare the traveler for the realities of the city, simply by including only the good and avoiding the city's more obvious characteristics.

When they say the former slums have been cleaned out, they state something that simply is not true. When they speak of thatched hovels in the past tense, they mislead—many streets are lined with them.

When they talk of people who used to eke out miserable livelihoods pulling rickshaws and carts or working as coolies, they fail to mention that thousands continue to do so. When they say that all streets have been paved, the mud on one's feet testifies that it is not so.

FOOD PRICES
UP 15 PCT.
IN LAST YEAR

By RICHARD F. WHALEN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It is costing more to fill the family dinner plate with meat, potatoes and fresh vegetables.

An Associated Press survey indicates that the prices will keep rising a while longer.

Beef and pork have risen sharply this spring, after more than a year of bargain levels for housewives.

Food stores generally report markedly higher prices for vegetables, too — as much as 50 per cent higher in Kansas City.

"Never saw prices so high and quality so poor," says Steve Hatton, Kansas City manager for George De Paoli Co., another produce wholesaler.

STANLEYVILLE
IS GHOST TOWN
OF FEW PEOPLE

By MICHAEL R. CODEL
STANLEYVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Stanleyville, once the Congo's teeming northern metropolis, lies still today in the African heat, virtually a ghost town.

When President Joseph Kasavubu arrived this week for a brief visit, only small groups of people gathered to watch him. They apparently were glad to see him. But there are not enough people left to rally into large enthusiastic crowds.

Six months after Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and government troops retook the city from the rebels and a U.S.-Belgian paratroop operation rescued white hostages, only 40,000 people have returned. The population used to be a quarter of a million.

The rest are hiding in the bush. The government fully controls only a few square miles in the center of the city where American missionary Dr. Paul Carlson died.

Carlson was one of about 30 persons killed just before Belgian paratroopers swept into the rebel capital after dropping from U.S. Air Force planes.

The rebels are still out in the bush and even in the outskirts of the city. The people who have come back show it in their faces.

The white mercenaries who rolled in after the Belgian paratroopers are gone. But soldiers are still common sights, gray-uniformed Congolese government soldiers carrying sub-machine guns.

The back streets seem deserted, with only a few houses occupied. There is little major war damage, but almost every building still has broken windows and walls are pocked with old bullet holes.

Electricity works but the flow of the impure water supply is scant at best.

Prices of everything are about 15 percent higher than in Leopoldville, far down the Congo River to the south, and goods are short. Barge traffic up the Congo still has to brave rebel territory and not many risk the trip.

BLAME GOVERNMENT

—An early winter freeze and rough spring weather — floods, tornadoes, drought — have cut into the fruit and vegetable crops.

—Many in the produce markets blame the government's decision to end the "bracero program," under which Mexican workers were brought into California to help harvest lettuce, tomatoes, asparagus, strawberries and other crops that have to be picked by hand. Acreage planted is down, as well as harvests, produce dealers say.

Steve D'Arrigo, a New York City produce dealer, says that there still are some vegetables that are lower — corn on the cob, broccoli, fresh peas and squash.

Some sample prices: Chicago —Potatoes 9-12 cents a pound compared with 7-8 cents last spring, lettuce 29 cents a head, Boston-lettuce 39, up 20 cents, cabbage 19, up 10, potatoes—5 lb.—65, up 16.

Cassius Clay Kayoes Liston In One Minute To Set Record, Keep Title; Crowd Yells 'Fix' On Confused End

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, knockout conqueror of Sonny Liston in the record time of one minute for a heavyweight title fight, hollered for "the rabbit" — Floyd Patterson — today while the boxing world buzzed with talk over another fiasco.

A short right hand to the jaw knocked out the aging, former champion for a "12 count" in a confused and controversial finish that had many of the 4,280 fans in the heavily police-guarded Central Maine Youth Center yelling "fake" and "fix."

But the undefeated Clay, unperturbed over reported threats on his life, shouted, "That was my secret — it was a phantom punch. It was lightning and thunder — fast as lightning and booming as thunder from the heavens."

LISTON UNMARKED
"It was a good, right-hand punch," said the unmarked, 31-year-old Liston. "No, I didn't quit. The blow landed on my left cheekbone. I've never been knocked down before. It made me groggy. I got to my knees but fell the second time because I was off balance."

"It was a good lick," said Patterson the two-time former heavyweight king and the rabbit Clay wants next in about four months. "He really hit him. I'm more anxious now than ever to meet him."

"There was nothing suspicious about it as far as I'm concerned," said George Russo, chairman of the Maine State Boxing Commission. "The only thing is that it ended too soon. The people didn't get their money's worth."

WALCOTT NEVER COUNTED
Nothing much had happened in the early moments as Clay, hands down, danced and circled from the plodding former champion, out to nail Clay with one punch. Then the 23-year-old Clay caught Liston with the right.

The stocky, heavy-set Liston fell on his back in a delayed fall. Sonny rolled over, got to his right knee and then fell on his back again.

In the meantime, referee Jersey Joe Walcott, the former heavyweight champion, never counted once. First he tried to steer Clay to a neutral corner. When he got back and peered to the knockdown timekeeper across the ring, Liston had fallen back on the canvas.

FANS CUT LOOSE
When Liston arose, Walcott rubbed Liston's glove and looked towards the timekeeper again. Then he left the fighters, to go over to the timekeeper. With the referee gone, Clay and Liston started slugging away.

By then Walcott had been informed by the timekeeper, Francis McDonough, that he had counted to 12 before Liston got up and that Clay had won on a knockout. Walcott rushed back, separated the two fighters, and declared Clay the winner on a knockout. It was then the fans let loose with a chorus of boos.

"It would have been different, no confusion if the timekeeper had a microphone so he could be heard," said Walcott.

WALCOTT'S VERSION
"Walcott was looking at the crowd, not at me," said McDonough. "What was wrong with him?"

"Clay hit Liston a right hand," said Walcott. "I was trying to keep the fighter (Clay) away and move him into a neutral corner. I let the timekeeper start the count while I was busy. By the time I got the champion aside I couldn't hear the count. I could see someone trying to shout at me."

"It was really a 12-count," said McDonough. "When it got to 12 I clicked the stop-watch. Walcott was supposed to pick up the count when I did. There is no question in my mind that Liston was knocked out."

Russo verified that the knock-out time was one minute.

Thus Clay, now calling himself "king of the ring" as well as "the greatest" broke one of the oldest records in the book.

BROKE OLD RECORD
By taking out Liston for the second straight time — this time in 60 seconds — he wiped out the record time of 1:28 for a heavyweight title fight set by Tommy Burns when he beat Jem Roche in Dublin, March 17, 1908. Clay's quick kayo was the 12th first-round knockout in a heavyweight title fight.

Ironically, it was Walcott who had been involved in a first-round knockout that caused a mighty stir in his fighting time. After he had lost the title to Rocky Marciano in the 13th round in Philadelphia, Sept. 23, 1952, he was knocked out in 2:25 of the first round of the return in Chicago May 15, 1953.

Thus the return Clay-Liston fight, which was telecast to 258 outlets in the United States, Canada and Mexico and was beamed overseas by the Early Bird satellite, kicked up almost as much of a storm as their still hotly discussed first fight at Miami Beach 15 months ago.

QUIT LAST TIME
That was the strange fight in which Liston, a prohibitive 7-1 favorite, quit on his stool after the sixth round, claiming an injured left shoulder. Clay had tried to quit after the fourth, claiming he was blinded by liniment on Liston's gloves.

This time Liston was only a 6-5 favorite over Clay, who was almost reserved at the weigh-in Tuesday compared to his hysterical outbursts in Miami. Clay weighed a surprisingly light 206 pounds and Liston 215½ for the return.

Clay who turned pro in 1960 after winning the Olympic light-heavyweight crown, now has a 21-0 record, including 17 knockouts. Liston, winner of 28 straight over a nine-year span until he ran into Clay, now has a 35-3 record, including the two knockout losses.

The fight, kicked out of Boston because of the promotional setup, drew 4,280 customers and $201,000 according to Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc. With the television and other rights included, the fighters each probably earned about $600,000.

As for the reported threats on his life by avengers of the slain Malcolm X, Clay said:

"All that talk about bombs and guns and people going to kill me, didn't bother me at all. But it had Sonny frozen stiff with fear."

'I'M TOO FAST'

More than 200 police from state, county and city, guarded the high school hockey arena. First the building was searched for bombs and later the purses of women spectators were inspected at the one entrance in which the customers were permitted to enter the arena.

Clay, as usual, got in the first and last words. Just before leaving the arena, he said, "I told everybody I had a secret but I couldn't reveal it. If I told the people what I was going to do, they wouldn't have come to the fight."

"I knew I was going to knock out the Big Bear in the first round. I'm just too fast for everyone. My punches just blur."

STATE ISSUES FISHING GUIDE

HARRISBURG — Many questions concerning where to fish and what species are present in specific waters are answered in the Pennsylvania Fish Commission's newest publication, "Fisherman's Guide to Pennsylvania Waters and Access Areas," according to Robert J. Bielo, executive director.

The 34-page booklet contains an alphabetical listing of the better fishing waters of each county. It includes a resume of the fish species present, the miles of acres of the listed waters and the location of the fishing water.

Also included is a list of Fish Commission access areas. This section names the county in which the facility is located. It gives the name of the area and its general location. The size and type of property is described and the table also shows the facilities found at each of the areas. These include such important information as details concerning launching, mooring, parking and sanitary facilities. It also is indicated if the property is leased, owned or under easement to the Fish Commission.

The locations of special fly fishing only areas, as well as the two fish for fun only waters, are included in a special section of the booklet.

The booklet may be obtained free of charge by writing to: Pennsylvania Fish Commission, Public Relations Division, Box 1673, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120.

Scoring three times in the bottom of the fourth inning, the Exchange Club defeated the Eagles 4-1 Tuesday evening as the Big Little League inaugurated its 1965 season.

Mayor William G. Weaver spoke briefly on the advantages of playing baseball and why boys should take part in this favorite pastime. Following his talk, Mayor Weaver threw out the first ball of the 1965 campaign.

"Butch" Alberts blasted a long triple to get the fourth inning started for the winners. Dave Eden followed with a single and before the dust had cleared Eden and Finkboner had followed Alberts across the plate. Andy Teeter and Bill Costner put together a walk and single to score the Eagles' lone run in the top of the third.

Alberts was the big gun in the winning cause. He went two for three at the plate and fired the win from the hill by allowing four scattered hits, fanning nine and walking three. Mike Varian topped the Eagles with a pair of hits. Sites and Craig Swinn tossed for the losers.

KEN VENTURI DOES WELL ON TRIAL ROUND

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Venturi didn't have any trouble with his hands as he shot a practice round at the 1965 U.S. Open site Tuesday but he had plenty of trouble with the Bellerive Country Club course.

"I never saw anything like it," said the defending U.S. Open champion who has been out of competition for six weeks because of a circulatory ailment which limited the use of his hands.

"It's the toughest course I ever played," he continued.

Venturi, the San Francisco golfer who won the Open last year at the Congressional Country Club in Washington, D.C., in a comeback bid, was satisfied with his game at this stage though.

"This is the first round since the Masters Tournament at Augusta in April that I have tried to do something with the ball," he said. "My game is beginning to jell."

The Bellerive course is the longest, at 7,200 yards, in U.S. Open history and its pocked with water, woods, doglegs, and sand traps.

Venturi judged he would have shot 75 or 76 Tuesday if he had not taken several alternate practice shots. Par for the 18-hole course is 70.

He said his hands were responding to treatment and he would be "ready to defend my title June 17-20."

TOP QUALIFIERS

Jerry Pittman of Rye, N.Y., and Richard Cannon, an amateur from Columbus, Ga., topped Tuesday's qualifying at seven regional sites. Each shot a 139.

A total of 71 players qualified Tuesday and joined Monday's 347 qualifiers in advancing to the qualifying second round June 7-8 that will determine the final field of 150 for the U.S. Open at St. Louis June 17-20.

Pittman, a 28-year-old native of Oklahoma who became a club pro this spring, posted his 70-69-139 at Eastchester, N.Y. Canon, a young infantry officer at Ft. Benning, had rounds of 71-68 at Atlanta.

Al Smith of Danville, Ga., put together two 70 rounds for a 140 to lead the qualifying at Burlington, N.C.

SUSQUEHANNA GOLF LEAGUE FORMS PLANS

At the spring meeting of the Susquehanna Scholastic Golf League Tuesday evening at the Country Inn, near Williams Grove, the 1966 schedule was adopted, officers elected and trophies awarded.

It was decided the first matches in 1966 will be played Monday, March 28. Beginning next season golfing averages will be made up after the second match and used thereafter in determining the individual opponents between schools.

An application for membership by Trinity Catholic was turned down when officials decided to retain the present six-school membership limit.

PRESENT AWARDS

Sportsmanship awards, decided by voting by squad members, were given to Bob Markley, East Pennsboro, and Phil Sprigoli, Bishop McDevitt, who were tied in the balloting. Markley was the winner last year.

The league's championship trophy was presented to Northern High School of Dillsburg.

Reid Ernst, Camp Hill, and Robert Bostic, Northern, were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The game was played under protest by the Lions and involved a batter stepping over the plate to swing at a pitched ball as he was being given an intentional pass.

Gary Cleveland supplied the hitting power for the Elks, tripling in the fourth inning to drive in two runs and later scoring on a single by Ron Cullison. The Elks scored in the second inning on a double by Ted Maitland and a single by Cleveland.

Sam Leedy got the first hit off Teeter when he singled to right in the fifth inning. In the sixth Musselman and Drew Gillan singled but neither could score.

Teeter fanned 10 and his mound opponent, Gillan, whiffed 13.

PHILS POUND METS; STUART IS ON BENCH

PHILADELPHIA (A) — The Philadelphia Phillies pummeled New York for 18 hits in a 10-3 victory over the Mets Tuesday night, and Frank Thomas, playing first base for the Phils, got three of them.

And where was Dick Stuart, the Phillies' highly-paid, colorful first baseman, who's batting around .260?

He was sitting this one out, and as one Philadelphia sports writer observed, only the chief justice of the United States gets paid as much for sitting on the bench.

"I told Stuart to sit here and help me manage," explained Phillies manager Gene Mauch.

"I have no comment at all," said Stuart. "I don't want to start any more trouble, period." Stuart was benched earlier this season, but got back into the lineup after a conference with Mauch.

Thomas, who now has eight hits in twelve at bats in the last two games said he doesn't know what will develop at first base.

MAUCH UNDECIDED

"I'm just coming out and doing my best. I'm just coming out day after day and see what happens."

Mauch said he hasn't decided about the situation at first base.

"I just don't know. There's some questions there just isn't any way to answer. When you get anybody's bat going the way Frank's is going, it's hard not to think of him being in the lineup."

Ruby Says He Took 30 Pills Then Feared Oswald Link In Assassination Of JFK

By MARY ELLEN HARRIS
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby told Monday how he took numerous stimulant pills before killing presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald and then expressed fear that he and Oswald would be linked in the assassination.

"To the American people and the world . . . I'm going to be branded a part of a conspiracy with Oswald," said Ruby.

"You're going to forget how I felt about the beloved President Kennedy. There has been so much torment, so much hardship."

Ruby's discourse, wandering from topic to topic and punctuated with emotional pauses, came during a hearing in which attorney Joe Tonahill, who was on Ruby's trial defense team, was taken out of the case for Ruby's forthcoming sanity hearing.

REMOVAL ORDERED

Tonahill's removal was ordered by Judge Louis T. Holland, Montague, Tex., who said the question of Ruby's counsel would be settled by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals following the sanity hearing.

Ruby, his face pallid from over a year in jail, said he took 30 antibiotic pills and others that "stimulate you and make you want to do positive things" after awakening on Sunday, Nov. 24, 1963, the day Oswald was shot to death.

He said he brooded about the Kennedy children being fatherless but noted, "what quirked me after that I don't know. As God is my judge, that is the truth."

"BIZARRE CONSPIRACY"

Ruby repeatedly referred to "one of the most bizarre conspiracies in the history of the world" to link him to Oswald, and seemed to have lost hope of escaping the electric chair.

"I know that I am a lost cause as far as saving my life — Don't believe Joe Tonahill — I know there is a whole conspiracy behind it," Ruby said. At another point, he noted, "I walked into a trap when I walked down that ramp (into the city hall basement where he shot Oswald). I know I am going to die a horrible death."

UNCLEAN BACKGROUND

Speaking of that Sunday, he said, "I shouldn't have tried to play the part of a hero. My background wasn't clean enough to play the part of a hero."

He thanked Judge Holland for allowing him "to speak for myself because I never had attorneys to speak for me," and appeared to regret the use of his trial defense team, Tonahill, Melvin Belli and Phil Burleson. "I'd have done better if I'd thrown myself at the mercy of the court," he said. Twice he declared, "I don't want you as my attorney, Mr. Tonahill."

Ruby began his statement saying: "I've been very patient while every one's classified me as an insane person."

ACCUSES INSANITY

Ruby and his family had sought to remove Tonahill as his attorney and replace him with a group of attorneys they had selected. Tonahill contended he had a valid contract with Ruby. He said the condemned man signed it while he was sane and that he is now insane and incompetent to decide who his counsel will be.

"I'm responsible for terrible things — this is the part you think I'm insane about, but I'm not," Ruby said.

Tonahill said there is no appeal of Judge Holland's decision, but that he would continue to work on Ruby's appeal before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals where he and Burleson are recognized as Ruby's attorneys of record.

Judge Holland said a hearing would be held soon, perhaps next week, to determine if Judge Joe Brown, who presided at the Ruby murder trial, should be disqualified for the sanity hearing.

CHARGE EXPLOITATION

Testimony Monday was peppered with charges that lawyers sought to exploit Ruby for profit.

Earl Ruby of Southfield, Mich., a brother, said he lost confidence in Belli and Tonahill "when I learned they were making a movie during the trial."

Ruby's roster of lawyers now consists of William Kunstler of New York and Sam Houston Clinton Jr. of Austin, both American Civil Liberties Union attorneys; Elmer Gertz of Chicago; Sol Dann of Detroit, and Burleson, who apparently has been approved by the Ruby family.

FAULTY PLANE BRINGS $112 FINE

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Flying Father Patrick O'Kelly swung the propeller of the little plane he built and the engine started.

"The plane started to move forward," the 45-year-old priest told a magistrate Monday. "I ran around and had my hand in the cockpit when I slipped and fell."

"After hitting a bump the plane rose in the air, stalled and nose-dived."

The accident occurred at Belfast's Aldergrove Airport. The plane was a total wreck.

The magistrate fined the priest $112 on a charge of acting negligently in a manner likely to endanger an aircraft or its

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

HILL 327, South Viet Nam (AP) — They keep a lonely vigil on a hot and dusty hill for a meeting with the enemy that may never come.

They are the four officers and 87 enlisted men of a U.S. Marines Hawk missile battery.

They are learning the hard way that war more often is boring and monotonous than dangerous or exciting, and that the thing you do most in any war is simply to wait.

The job they have to do is to knock out of the sky with their ground-to-air missiles any enemy planes that threaten the huge Da Nang air base.

LIKE WEAPON

The men have great confidence in their weapon. In training for their present mission they found the Hawks effective in bringing down drone aircraft used as targets at their base on Okinawa.

"They'll knock the hell out of anything that can be sent against us over here," said the battery commander, Capt. Everett Cowley, 33, Quincy, Mass.

The battery, whose theme song is "On Top of Old Dusty," is emplaced on the flat peak of one of the highest hills in the Da Nang area. The road up it is one long river of hubcap-deep dust.

RIVER OF MUD

It isn't that way all year round, however. When the rainy season starts the road will become a river of mud.

The view from the top of Hill 327, where the long slender Hawk missiles nest in their launchers like poised hornets, is hauntingly beautiful. In one direction stretches the watery waste of the South China Sea over which white cloud towers float in slow and timeless majesty. Between the sea and the base of the hill lie the city of Da Nang and its vital air base.

In the other direction lie a valley and rugged hills from whose green hell Marine patrols are tortuously and painstakingly flushing the tenacious Viet Cong. The loveliness of the hills hides the menace of the ambushing enemy.

SAND BAGS, WIRE

The battery's position conceivably is vulnerable to mortar attack. It is guarded by sandbags and barbed wire and a company of Marine infantrymen. But the missilemen themselves also pull sentry duty, man outpost holes, and pile up more sandbag barricades.

The heart of the battery is its small, well-hidden command central. The darkened room is air-conditioned not so much for the comfort of the men as to protect the radar and electronic equipment with which the missilemen keep a day and night watch of the sky.

I asked Capt. Cowley if his men had had many interesting experiences. He smiled wryly and said:

"Well, once we saw a king cobra snake, and in six weeks we have piled up 50,000 sandbags. This job isn't romantic — just scenic and necessary. We do feel that if the enemy does try to fly against us here we'll bring him down here."

occupants and negligently causing danger to persons or property.

In 10 years of flying, Father O'Kelly has logged 400 hours and 35,000 miles in the air.

PLUMMER TO LEAVE SCREEN FOR PEER GYNT

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Having starred in three major movies, Christopher Plummer is going off to play "Peer Gynt" on the London stage.

"He's out of his mind," agrees the wise crowd in Hollywood. They figure any actor with his sanity would consolidate an ascending career in films.

Plummer's agent received the news more violently.

"The veins distended in his temple," the agent recalled, "he sputtered and turned a shade of puce. He couldn't believe it."

Indeed, why would Plummer play Ibsen for a pittance when star-hungry studios would gladly pay him a six-figure salary to make a film?

"Because I was sitting at the beach feeling as if I were vegetating," he explained. "Peter Coe (the director) dropped in and suggested we do a play in London together. I just bought a house there I would like to see, and he has a house in London, too. I had always wanted to do 'Peer Gynt,' so why not now?"

His agent still considers that Plummer is playing fast and loose with his 90 per cent. But that's the way the Canadian-born actor is. He has finally made it in films after two false starts; but he still considers the stage his profession.

This is not an unreasonable stance. He has starred on the

New York and London stage to critical acclaim. His interpretation of Shakespearean heroes has been hailed at all three Stratfords — Conn., Ont., on Avon — and his television "Hamlet," filmed at Elsinore Castle, was considered brilliant.

HAD FILM OFFERS

His stage fame brought him film offers. He took two — "Stage Struck" and "Across the Everglades." He terms both of them disasters.

Back he went to the theater, returning to films two years ago for "Fall of the Roman Empire." He believes the epic did not receive its due in this country.

"Certainly we all know the dramatic limitations of spectacles, but the picture was better than most of its kind," he said. "It was obviously handsome and authentic, much better than 'Cleopatra' with its tacky costumes. 'Roman Empire' did well everywhere except in the United States, where it lacked a publicity campaign because Samuel Bronston ran out of money. It's shameful that critics would attack it because it wasn't properly publicized."

Instead, Imbert proposed creation of a provisional legislative council to serve, apparently in an advisory capacity. The council members would be appointed by professional, industrial, agricultural and labor organizations. The armed forces would publicly pledge allegiance to civil authority.

Imbert made no mention of elections or the proposed life span of the council and the junta.

VISIT REBEL SECTOR

Bundy and Vance visited the rebel sector in downtown Santo Domingo Tuesday for a four-hour talk with the rebel chief, Col. Francisco Caamano Dengo. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the exchange was "useful and serious" but disclosed no details.

Caamano has said he would relinquish his claims to the presidency if an agreement is reached on a coalition.

Imbert, whose forces crushed rebel opposition in the northern sector of Santo Domingo, has told U.S. officials he heads a going government which runs the country except for the rebel stronghold in downtown Santo Domingo and he sees no reason to step aside for a coalition regime.

Bonneauville's Cub Pack is all set to go—if it can find some den mothers.

But the unit can't begin because no women have agreed to be den mothers.

Wins Medal In Speech Contest

On Sunday afternoon the WCTU held several scripture speech contests in Rock Chapel Church of God.

The bronze medal was awarded to Miss Sandra Trimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trimmer, of East Berlin, for reciting the 91st Psalm. Sandra is in the Fifth Grade and a member of the Girl Scouts and the Loyal Temperance Legion. The medal was presented to Sandra by Mrs. Ruth Fadenrecht, president of WCTU. Other contestants in the bronze medal contest were Ted Sowers, reciting I Kings 17:1-16; Earl DeHaven Jr., Ex-er, Psalms 23. The judges for the contests were Mrs. Ruby Roemer, Mrs. Dora Shafer and Mrs. Betty Bowers.

Six children under nine years of age also recited scripture passages. They were Mark Messinger, Hanover R. 5; Debbie Kuykendall, Idaville; Marion Engle, Grantham; Susan Gruver, East Berlin R. 2; Cindy Bowers and Herta Fadenrecht, Five Points. Each received a gift. Carolyn Dubbs recited Psalms 8, 24 and 121, which she has prepared for entering a silver contest.

The services opened with singing hymns. Mrs. Grace Howe offered prayer. Special music was rendered by the Loyal Temperance children who sang two numbers. The closing prayer was by Hershey Bowers.

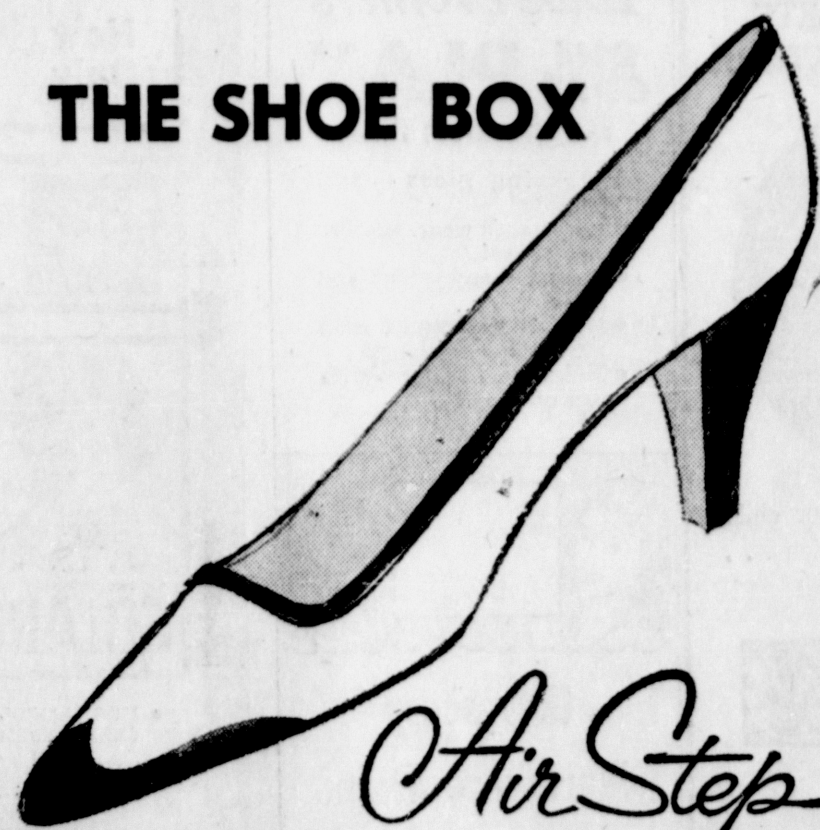

Girl Scout News

Eleven members of Girl Scout Troop 968, led by Mrs. Donald White, presented handmade puppets to the school for retarded children on High St. this morning.

The girls have been working on the dabbled badge for the past few months under the leadership of Mrs. Orville Orner and Mrs. Donald C. Ober. To pass this badge, the girls completed nine art forms and selected the puppets to donate to the children in the school. Those who passed are Mady Bigham, Marilyn Bigham, Sandra Dayton, Barbara Ecker, Linda Clegg, Ann Jones, Marilyn Orner, Susan Raffensperger, Lynn Sheppard, Christine Thomas and Elizabeth Ann White. All are in the Fifth Grade.

The Girl Scouts of Goodyear held a mother-daughter banquet at the Mt. Zion Lutheran Church Tuesday evening. Each mother provided a covered dish of salad or casserole and Cadettes each baked a cake for the occasion. Cadette and Junior Girl Scouts made corsages for their mothers. The center pieces for the table were made by the Cadettes, Juniors and Brownies and featured hats with flowers in them.

Combat Patrols In S. V. N. Add Maturity To Marines

By JOHN T. WHEELER
WITH THE 2ND MARINE BATTALION, South Viet Nam (AP) — "Tell them not to call us kids; we don't feel like kids any more," a rangy 18-year-old Marine said.

The Leatherneck's platoon had just suffered one killed and four wounded at the hands of the Viet Cong in one action.

The Marines here are for the most part young in terms of age. But old timers feel that combat patrols against the Viet Cong have added maturity.

Lance Cpl. Marvin Shirey, 19, leads a three-man fire team. He is the only man of the original unit who has not been hit. One died with a bullet in his heart. The second was shot in the stomach.

NOT BAD BREAK

The rangy, Jacksonville, Tex., Marine said, "It isn't bad luck, they were just in the wrong place at the wrong time. And we got some of them (the Viet Cong)."

Staff Sgt. Danny Thomas, Chester, Ill., 3rd Platoon's sergeant, commented: "The third oldest man in the platoon is 23. But since we got some action, the men have taken on a new look. They're older somehow."

"For the casualties we've taken, morale is good," he added. Echo Company, which includes Shirey's and Thomas' Platoon, has counted one dead and nine wounded in initial U.S. Marine clashes with the Viet Cong.

FIND IT TOUGH

Although well-instructed on what to expect in Viet Nam, some of the Marines are finding it tough to adapt themselves to guerrilla warfare here. So far there has been no hard contact with a large Viet Cong force and casualties have come from snipers and booby traps. One Marine was shot in the side with an arrow.

"Everyone is teed off that we can't get them into the open and have it out," one private first class said.

Older Marines express pride in the way the newer men handle themselves. Echo Company 1st Sgt. William Baird, Corpus Christi, Tex., said:

"They are as good now as the Marines of 20 years ago. There's no way around it, you can't take it away from the young ones. You've got to admire them."

Baird is a veteran of World War II and Korea.

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Michael Ruggiero, 17, killed by a mysterious explosion in his father's car last May 18, will be given a high school diploma posthumously, when the rest of his class graduates from Hazleton Senior High School June 7.

The Hazleton Area Joint School Committee unanimously approved the posthumous diploma Tuesday night upon the recommendation of the school's principal, George Shanno.

WARNER BOOK SCORES STARS OF HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is indeed the year of Jack L. Warner.

The last tycoon among movie pioneers, he refuses to become a museum piece. He continues to run his studio with the air of a clown prince who became king.

He shows up at awards affairs to receive awards and deliver his chaotic, gag-punctuated speeches; he collected the big prize for "My Fair Lady," the first Warner film to win the best picture Oscar since "Casablanca" in 1943.

BOLD CHARACTER

Now Warner has written or talked his autobiography, "My First Hundred Years in Hollywood"—Random House, $5.95. It is a lot better than his speeches, thanks no doubt to the collaboration of Dean Jennings. But even with help of coherent syntax, the real Jack Warner stands out. He is bold, roguish, irreverent, unabashed and on rare occasions, faintly sentimental.

It appears that life would have been much more pleasant for Jack Warner except for actors. One by one he ticks off the slings and arrows of a studio boss's fortunes. He scores the drinking of John Barrymore and Errol Flynn, sees George Raft as temperamental, calls Bette Davis ungrateful and James Cagney big-headed.

MISSED CHANCES

Warner isn't unwilling to admit that he passed up chances to sign Clark Gable — "big ears," Mario Lanza — "too fat," and Lana Turner.

The Warner saga ends with his "My Fair Lady" triumph. He tells of seeing the musical on its opening night on Broadway, March 15, 1956. He immediately moved to buy the film rights from his friend, William S. Paley, head of CBS which had financed the show.

"I was thrown on my rear when he not only refused my offer, but firmly declined to discuss the matter at all," writes Warner.

Pioneers are not put off that easily. Warner reports that he hit Paley at least once a month for five years "like a bagging bill collector." Then in 1962 Warner was in New York and heard of rival offers of $3.5 million. He took a taxi to Paley's office and said: "Bill, I'm ready to put up five and a half million for 'My Fair Lady.'"

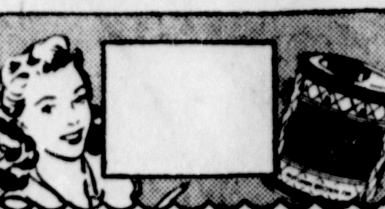

"Jack, you've got a deal," Paley replied.

SOME NEGRO TEACHERS ARE LOSING JOBS

EDITOR'S NOTE—One of the offshoots of school desegregation is the eventual elimination of the South's dual systems. A survey by The Associated Press indicates the effect on Negro teachers.

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — Some Negro school teachers are losing their jobs as desegregation literally takes away their classes. The prospect is that many more teachers will be thrown out of work in the South.

There is a strong possibility that wholesale dismissal of Negro teachers will result from the elimination of dual school systems, said Wilbert L. Porter, a Negro educator of Tallahassee, Fla.

"I wouldn't call it a trend yet," Porter said. "But I see a beginning." He said many Negro teachers are in danger of losing jobs because of desegregation.

WHOLESALE DISMISSALS

Similar fears were expressed by Negro leaders in other Southern states. But desegregation has not gone far enough to raise the teacher problem in most areas of the South.

Complaints came from Florida, Texas, Virginia, Arkansas and North Carolina in a survey of the teacher situation.

It was charged Monday in New York by Jack Greenberg of the NAACP legal defense fund that a trend of wholesale dismissal of Negro teachers was emerging throughout the South. Porter said 10 Negro teachers had been notified they would be re-employed next year because their 135 pupils are going to formerly white schools.

An informal inquiry was promised by Thomas Bailey, state superintendent of public

Young Mother And Daughter Killed

LAMAR, Pa. (AP)—Two cars collided head-on near this Clinton County community Tuesday, killing a young mother, her small daughter and a teen-age youth.

State police said the dead were Mrs. Frances Johnson, 24, of Mill Hall R. D. 1; her daughter, Debra, 3, and Larry Clayton Shelley, 19, of Loganton.

No other persons were involved in the mishap, which occurred on Route 780, about eight miles south of here.

instruction, who said: "I have seen no evidence of any attempt to bring about mass dismissals."

By far the most severe report came from North Carolina. But Dr. S. E. Duncan of Salisbury said the statement that 500 Negro teachers will lose their jobs was "merely an estimate." He said a survey was being made to get the number.

Duncan is president of the North Carolina Teachers Association, the Negro organization. Greenberg said in his speech that 500 Negroes had been fired or told to find other jobs. A court test is planned.

QUESTION LEGALITY

The state's superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Charles Carroll, said he knew of no Negro teachers losing their jobs.

In Virginia, at least 19 Negro teachers have been displaced by desegregation, said Dr. J. Rupert Picott, executive secretary of the Virginia Teachers Association, a Negro group.

The U.S. Office of Education has directed Southern school systems to take steps toward consolidation of faculties, but school officials have questioned the legality of this order.

VOTING BILL WOULD CARRY HEAVY IMPACT

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The voting-rights bill nearing passage in the Senate could have a heavy impact on the pattern of voting in the South — if it works.

The main aim of the legislation is to enfranchise a much larger portion of the more than 3 million nonwhites of voting age who live in seven Southern states where Negro participation in elections has been relatively small.

If substantial progress is made in Negro registration and voting through processes the bill would provide, the result could be bad news for all-out segregationist Democratic candidates and for Republicans in general.

POWER AT STAKE

Technically, any widely successful drive to put Negroes on the voting rolls could place them in a balance-of-power situation in some of the states.

The Census Bureau says, for example, that there are 422,000 nonwhites of voting age in Mississippi. This represents about 34 percent of the 1,234,000 voting-age population but is greater than the 409,000 Mississippians who actually voted in the 1964 presidential election.

Exact figures on the number of Mississippi Negroes who participated in the election are lacking. The general belief is that only a small percentage did. So Mississippi is certain to be a focal point for operations under the bill.

MANY FACTORS

The theory of the measure's sponsors is that the face of segregation can be changed and the candidates who advocate it will either modify their views or be

Selfless Dedication Is Key Leadership Quality Cited By Ike In Article

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who passed up a chance to lead the invasion of Europe, and another who, relieved of a World War II command, regained his rank on the battlefield, are two examples chosen by former president Dwight D. Eisenhower to illustrate his idea of leadership.

Writing on "What is Leadership?" in the current issue of Reader's Digest, Eisenhower said one of the key qualities of defeated by force of the Negro vote.

Politicians who look at the matter unemotionally, however, are not so certain that will be the result. They point out that economic factors may influence many Negroes. The Negro who fears he may lose his job if he registers and votes may hesitate to claim his franchise, they feel.

Under present conditions, the Republicans think every 10 Negroes added to the voting rolls will provide nine new Democratic voters.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Whatever effectiveness of the voting rights measure when it finally becomes law, it will give politicians food for thought in several states.

Census figures show 481,000 nonwhites of voting age in Alabama, which cast 689,000 votes in last November's election.

Other states, with the non-white population listed first and the vote total second, are: Louisiana, 515,000 and 896,000; Georgia 613,000 and 1,129,000; South Carolina, 371,000 and 524,000.

The bill would affect roughly only one-third of 437,000 voting-age nonwhites in Virginia and 51,000 in North Carolina.

leadership is selfless dedication. His example was Gen. George C. Marshall, who—against his own preference decided to carry on his work in the Pentagon, rather than accept command of the invasion of Europe, in 1943.

Other qualities, Eisenhower said, are courage, conviction, fortitude, humility, and the power of persuasion.

CITES GEN. WATSON

He said he found inspiration in the comeback made by Maj. Gen. Leroy Watson, whom he had relieved of command because of what he termed "serious mistakes of judgment."

The action also caused Watson to revert to his peacetime rank of lieutenant colonel.

Eisenhower said Watson "accepted my decision without the slightest bitterness," but requested, "that I not send him back to the United States."

Eisenhower said he assigned Watson to another division.

WERE CLASSMATES

"He performed so well in his new assignment," Eisenhower related, "that he rose to the rank of brigadier general in combat, and long before his retirement was again a major general."

Watson and Eisenhower were classmates at the U.S. Military Academy in 1915 and have been friends ever since.

In Beverly Hills, Watson said he approved publication of the article because "it tells the truth."

Watson said his demotion had stemmed from a maneuver near St. Lo, France, but it "had nothing to do with the fighting calibre of the unit."

"You might call it a clash of personalities—a lack of communications between the front and rear echelons," he said.

Super-Rocket Makes 9th Successful Test Flight

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Saturn 1 super-rocket thundered to its ninth straight successful test flight Tuesday and drilled into orbit a mammoth "space bird" satellite to climax a spectacular early morning launching.

The satellite, Pegasus 2, unfolded two giant wings to a span of 96 feet — greater than most four-engine airliners — and began swooping through space like a great bird.

It was to measure tiny meteoroids and the hazard they pose to astronauts making lengthy space trips.

ELECTRONIC SQUAWK

Each time the thin, metallic skin of Pegasus 2 is penetrated by one of the streaking cosmic bullets, the satellite is to emit an electronic squawk to be recorded in a memory device and radioed to earth on command.

The 18-story-tall Saturn 1, the world's most powerful rocket, uttered a mighty roar and sent a waterfall of flame cascading over its launching pad as it flashed to life at 2:35 a.m. after a perfect countdown.

The massive first-stage power plant, a cluster of eight engines, generated 1.5 million pounds of thrust.

LAUNCH IN DARK

It was the first time that Saturn 1 had been launched in darkness, and it provided early-rising missile watchers with a brilliant performance of noise and fire.

It illuminated Cape Kennedy as if it were midday. A great thunderclap rolled across the cape and a 300-foot tail of flame fanned out behind the booster as it raced toward space.

After 2½ minutes, the hydrogen-powered second stage ignited, and pushed the satellite into orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that Pegasus 2 was in an orbit ranging from about 320 to 460 miles high.

WATCH ON TV

Personnel at the West Indies tracking station on Antigua watched on closed-circuit space television as the satellite's wings unfolded like an accord-ian high above the Atlantic some 2,000 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

They said a camera mounted on the second stage provided clear pictures of the deployment.

The burned-out second stage remained attached to the satellite for stabilization. Total weight was 23,000 pounds. Officials said the payload would be visible in areas of the world over which it passed at night.

NAME FROM HORSE

The launching was the second of three planned in the Pegasus series, which draws its name from the flying horse of Greek mythology. The first Pegasus has been circling the earth since last Feb. 16. Although its panels have been peppered by thousands of tiny meteoroids, space agency officials say its findings have generated confidence that properly designed manned satellite surfaces will be able to withstand the impacts.

Orbiting of Pegasus 2 actually was a secondary goal of the launching. The main purpose was to further evaluate the Saturn 1, forerunner of the mighty Saturn 5 rocket which is being developed to launch American astronauts to the moon. All eight previous test flights of the rocket were successful, with one more planned later this year.

No Injunction On Rail Stock Vote

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Common Pleas Court has refused to enjoin the Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio railroads from voting their shares of Reading Co. stock to the Reading in its election of directors Tuesday.

Judge Joseph E. Gold on Monday ordered, however, that the results of today's election not be certified by the court until a hearing on June 1.

The injunction was requested by stockholder George J. Rafkin, who charged that the B & O and the C & O illegally controlled the Reading through stock ownership.

Steve E. Bertrand, president of the Reading, denied the charges. He has stated that the company's annual meeting and election will be held today as scheduled.

CAMPAIGN FOR METRIC PLAN GETS IMPETUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housewives, start thinking of butter at so much a kilogram and dress goods at so much a meter.

Husbands, try to picture vital dimensions of 91-66-91.

This advice comes from Chairman George P. Miller of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics.

The California Democrat is one American who reacted with absolute delight to Britain's announcement that gradually it will institute the metric system of weights and measures.

LITTLE PROGRESS

"This passes our bill," Miller exulted to a reporter.

Like some others in Congress, Miller has been calling for years for a study by the National Bureau of Standards of the problems that would be involved in putting the United States on the metric system. They say use of the metric system would make it easier to relate U.S. technology to that of other nations.

So far the bill has moved hardly a millimeter in the face of opposition by members who don't think the results of such a study would be worth its cost, estimated by Miller at $200,000 to $300,000.

"When Britain goes through with this, we will be absolutely alone with our complicated, outdated system of measurements," Miller said. "Our competitive position will be horrible. Have you noticed that our food package labels already carry a line giving the contents in grams?"

Miller, a spry 74, said he would waste no time pushing for the study that could lead to the substitution of meters, kilograms and liters for feet, pounds and quarts.

"We'll have hearings next month," he said. "This has got to come, and the sooner we get started, the sooner the confusion will be over."

The British government announcement suggested a 10-year change-over period. Miller is willing to allow even more time here: "Some estimates say a generation would be required for the full change to be absorbed."

HAS PLAN ON REDISTRICTING

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "blue-ribbon, non-partisan committee" should be appointed to draw up a reapportionment plan for Pennsylvania if the legislature is unable to agree to one, says Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.

Clark, in a letter to constituents, said reapportionment is neither a Republican nor Democratic issue, but primarily a matter of assuring residents of suburban areas the same representation as those in cities and rural areas.

"Such Republican counties as Lancaster, Delaware, Bucks and Montgomery and such Democratic counties as Westmoreland and Berks have only a fraction of the representation to which they are entitled. There is no justification for a citizen of beautiful, but sparsely-populated Pike County having three times

Undeclared GOP Senators Hold Key To Cloture Bill

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — A band of undeclared Republicans held the key today to whether the Senate would vote to curb debate on President Johnson's voting-rights bill.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen forecast a debate-limiting two-thirds vote that would clear the way for passage of the measure by next week.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield ventured no forecast on the vote that comes an hour after the Senate convenes at noon.

If all 100 senators vote, it will take 67 of them to invoke cloture, limiting each senator thereafter to an hour's talk on the voting-rights bill and all amendments.

In an Associated Press poll, 62 senators said they would vote for cloture, 26 declared themselves opposed.

NINE REPUBLICANS

Nine of the dozen undeclared senators are Republicans. They are George D. Aiken of Vermont, Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, Jack Miller of Iowa, Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, George Murphy of California, John G. Tower of Texas and John J. Williams of Delaware.

The undeclared Democrats are Howard W. Cannon of Nevada, Albert Gore of Tennessee and Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas.

Of the 12, all but Gore and Tower, who voted against, and Murphy, who was not in the Senate, voted for cloture a year ago when the Senate for the first time limited debate on a civil-rights bill.

CIVIL RIGHTS DEBATE

That action came after 75 days of debate on a broad civil-rights measure that became law. It put a stop to a Southern filibuster and opened the way for passage eight days later.

The vote then was 71 to 29.

This time, there has been plenty of talk, but not everyone agrees the extended debate can properly be labeled a filibuster. For one thing proponents of the bill have held forth at length, debating how to register in the bill their opposition to poll taxes.

MONEY "LURE" NATURAL FOR PAT PRIEST

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pat Priest comes by her interest in money quite naturally. Her mother used to make it.

Mother is Ivy Baker Priest, who signed those lovely ones, two, five, ten, etc., as treasurer of the United States during the Eisenhower administration.

Pat now is making a goodly amount of her mother's product as Marilyn, the wide-eyed niece of "The Munsters." She couldn't be happier.

Well, yes, she could be. She'd like the show just a bit better if the producers would allow her to look more like a girl.

WORKS IN JEANS

This week, Pat was doing the CBS series in tight blue jeans and checked shirt — the Munsters had moved out west to a ghost town.

"This costume is a bit extreme for me," she admitted. "Usually I am stuck with Paisley prints, checks and stripes. I've worn so many full skirts you'd think I had a hip problem. (Note: She doesn't.)"

"I'm not allowed to wear any solid colors — nothing that might outline the figure. Sweaters? Are you kidding?"

"I'm not allowed to wear anything that might be the least bit sexy. Once in a while I tell them, 'Look — if you wanted someone in this part to look like a boy, why didn't you hire a boy?'"

FAMILY SHOW

The production thinking here seems to be that "The Munsters" is a family show and any notion of sex should be eschewed. Pat Priest doesn't exactly go along with that line of reasoning, but she's delighted to be a part of the family. "It's an education to be working every day with three pros," said she, referring to the show's eccentricities, Yvonne de Carlo, Fred Gwynne and Al Lewis.

"I'm crazy about acting — always have been," said Pat, a vivacious, blue-eyed blonde. "It was simply a matter of being in the right place at the right time before it happened to me."

IN NAVY WIFE

The wife of a Navy officer, she moved from one city to another, doing little theater work, television and modeling at each. When her husband was assigned to nearby Point Mugu, she was able to pursue a Hollywood career in earnest.

Her first job was breakfast cereal commercial. Her first acting role was in "The Lieutenant" — as a sexy cocktail waitress. Most of her roles were along the same lines, until "The Munsters."

Train Hits Stalled Car; Five Killed

LINCOLN, Ala. (AP) — A train slammed into a stalled car at a crossing, killing five persons — three of them children who were trapped inside the vehicle.

Coroner Clinton Perkins called the Monday night wreck one of the worst he had seen.

Killed were Clinton Groce, 33; Sarah Groce, 28; Rheta Groce, 18 months; Harriet Groce, 3; and Dolly Mae Cunningham, 2, all of Lincoln.

The coroner said Mr. and Mrs. Groce apparently were trying to take the children out of the car as the 16-car Southern Railway train struck the car.

Four other children, who had gotten out to try to help push the car off the tracks, witnessed the grinding crash.

NEW YORK (AP) — Homer Croy, 87, screenwriter and novelist of the American frontier Southwest, died Monday of a heart attack. Croy wrote several scenarios for movies starring the late Will Rogers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down Monday a 1962 law authorizing the Post Office Department to hold up Communist mail from abroad.

Justice William O. Douglas delivered the 8-0 decision. Justice Byron R. White took no part.

The government contended the law served two basic purposes: It protected American citizens, especially those of recent foreign origin, from harassment; it denied foreign powers the service of having the United States deliver their propaganda to people who did not want it.

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman didn't, President Eisenhower did and President Johnson did and didn't.

That's the mixed-up picture of how presidents down through American history used the armed forces, sometimes with and sometimes without congressional approval, even when it meant war.

The Constitution gives Congress alone the power to declare war but it says the President is commander in chief of Army and Navy. It neglects to say whether he needs a go-ahead from Congress before using them.

So the presidents, depending on the man and the circumstances, have suited themselves.

Presidents Jefferson, McKinley and Wilson are three examples of men who didn't ask the blessing of Congress when they thought it necessary to act.

Jefferson sent the Navy into action in the undeclared war against the Barbary pirates in 1801.

In 1900, McKinley sent 2,500 U.S. troops, along with about 16,000 from European countries, into China against fanatical Chinese, principally a group called the "Boxers," who were slaughtering foreigners and wanted to drive out the rest.

Wilson in 1914 sent the armed forces to capture Vera Cruz in Mexico.

When the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea in 1950, Truman sent in the armed forces without ever asking or getting specific congressional approval. Yet, this was a real war.

Actually, half an hour before he announced his action he called congressional leaders to the White House, told them the decision he had made and got their hearty endorsement.

For all practical purposes Congress did give him official approval for the war in the various measures it voted, like money, extending the draft and so on.

DIFFERENT SITUATION

Nevertheless, as the fighting went on and the 1952 presidential campaign drew near, Republicans called it "Truman's war," a charge he might have avoided if he had pinned Congress down to specific approval.

Eisenhower, pot faced with the same kind of emergency as Truman, made use of the time to get ready and in January 1955, asked and got from Congress approval for whatever action he might take to defend Formosa from Red Chinese attack.

But in 1957 he was looking ahead a year when he asked Congress for authority to use the armed forces to protect the Middle East from Communist aggression.

HAD NATION'S OKAY

(Like other presidents before him Eisenhower could have used the forces when the time came, without this authorization, but by doing it this way he had a national endorsement for what he might do later.)

IKE'S "DOCTRINE"

It took Eisenhower three months to get approval from both houses of Congress but, once he had it, it became known as the Eisenhower "doctrine," although he didn't have to use it until 1958.

Then, when Lebanon, friendly to the West, seemed in danger from communism or Egypt, Eisenhower sent the fleet there and put troops ashore.

Johnson sought congressional endorsement for the action he has taken in Viet Nam but not in the Dominican Republic.

Last August, when North Vietnamese PT boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin, he asked and got from Congress a blank check to do what he thought necessary. At that time he didn't do much.

USED BLANK CHECK

He ordered the bombing of some North Vietnamese naval bases. But he used the blank check in full when Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam last February blasted a U.S. air base with mortar fire.

Johnson ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam and that has been going on since, with a pause of only six days to see if the Communists wanted to talk peace. When they didn't, the bombing was resumed. Meanwhile, Johnson sent in Marines. The congressional approval he got beforehand was very broad. It authorized "all necessary measures" to "prevent further aggression."

But when Johnson sent Marines into the Dominican Republic last month — explaining first it was to save American lives and then to stop a Communist takeover — he sought no formal nod from Congress.

He simply called some key members of Congress to the White House to explain his action before announcing it to the nation.

A Rumanian poet once described the people of his Balkan nation as "beggars sitting on a pile of gold."

CHINA SKIES SEEM EMPTY TO VISITORS

EDITOR'S NOTE — On a tour of Communist China, the chief of the Southern news services in Canada is making his dispatches available to The Associated Press. U.S. reporters are barred from Red China.

By CHARLES LYNCH
PEKING (AP)—You leave the jet set behind you when you travel inside China on the Chinese People's Airline. It's back to the thunder of pistons and the popping of ears.

Airports are close to downtown, in the old style—the drive from the hotel in Harbin to the local airstrip took only five minutes.

There seem to be few planes flying in China at any time—to the Western eye the skies seem empty and quiet, devoid of the vapor trails that have become part of the North American and European skyline. In China, the travel route for the masses is by train. Planes are special, and interurban travel by car is virtually unknown.

MARK OF MAO MEN

At Harbin, the only other planes on the field were three old DC3s and a couple of Russian-built single-engine biplanes.

Pilot and copilot looked more like locomotive engineers than airmen, wearing the eternal blue cloth caps and plain blue coveralls that are the mark of the men of Mao.

You clatter away into the air, surrounded by baggage carried in the cabin along with the passengers and assorted items of freight. Spring winds were blowing their hardest and it was a bumpy passage southward to Changchun.

At Changchun, the temperature had dropped and there was a freezing one-hour stopover in the terminal, with only lashings of tea to stave off the cold. Military planes were parked on the tarmac in a long row, engines and cockpits swathed in quilted covers.

TWO RESOLUTIONS

Lunch was served in the form of that rare Chinese delicacy, the sea slug. A plate of sea slugs appeals to the Chinese the way a thick steak appeals to the Westerner — lovely little snail-like creatures they are, all slimy and spiny, wallowing in their goo.

A bumpy landing at Peking and the flight was accomplished — six hours for some 600 miles. The only other plane on the Peking tarmac was a Viscount, used by the Chinese People's Airline on the run south from Peking to Canton. There are no jets—the Peking airport, even though it is about 30 miles from town, isn't big enough to

SOCIALIST IS NEW MAYOR OF VIENNA TODAY

VIENNA, Austria, (AP) — Vienna's Socialist mayor, Franz Jonas, was elected president of Austria Sunday by the closest margin in recent history.

Jonas, 65, defeated Conservative former Chancellor Alfons Gorbach, 66, by 63,482 votes.

The vote count was 2,324,474 to 2,260,992. There were about 94,000 blank ballots, apparently cast by those who wanted an independent candidate to run.

Jonas' term runs for six years. He succeeds Adolf Schaerf, who died in February during his second term. Under the Austrian constitution, new elections are called when a president dies.

Gorbach piled up more votes than any Conservative candidate since 1945 for the traditionally Socialist office. The close outcome raised the party's hopes of increasing their 18 seats in the 165-seat Parliament in the 1966 elections.

Jonas' strength was assured in Vienna where he got 647,960 votes against Gorbach's 474,488. He also carried the industrial provinces of Styria, Carinthia and Burgenland. Gorbach's main strength was in the Alpine provinces.

Austria has a coalition government of Socialists and Conservatives.

Traditionally the premier is a Conservative and the president a Socialist.

The constitution requires the president to be nonpartisan and to guard over domestic political peace. Jonas pledged: "I will be a president for all Austrians." Many of his duties are ceremonial, but he takes a hand in the formation of new governments and can exercise considerable influence at that time.

He is the first president without a university degree. The son of a poor worker, Jonas apprenticed as a typesetter and spent 13 years at the trade before becoming a Socialist party official in 1932.

He was elected mayor of the city of 1.8 million in 1951 and concentrated on building low-rent homes, hospitals, kindergartens and bridges and restoring the city as one of Europe's chief tourist attractions.

Gannett Co. Inc., died Monday in Honolulu after a long illness. Cruikshank was born in Bant, Scotland, and came to this country after a banking career in Canada. He was named business manager in 1923 of the Rochester Journal-American, a Hearst newspaper. He moved to the Gannett Co. in 1928 as a general auditor, became general manager in 1947 and general manager and treasurer in 1951. He retired in 1955.

Robot Disappears From Owner's Shop

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Missing: an 8 1/2-foot-tall robot with a warped mind. Escaped? Police prefer the theory he was stolen.

This robot is Tobor the Great, the 450-pound aluminum star in a 1954 movie of the same name. Tobor gave a subtle portrayal as an international counterespionage whose personal life was marred by emotional problems.

Tobor fell rapidly from stardom, however, and was bought at auction for $30 by antique dealer John Shiels, who stationed the large automation outside his West Hollywood shop.

Shiels reported that Tobor disappeared late Sunday night.

SCHOOL BUS UPSETS AND KILLS GIRL

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A school bus returning from an outing in Pittsburgh flipped over on an exit ramp of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Monday, fatally injuring a young girl and injuring 23 other persons, two seriously.

Virginia Herr, 13, of Donegal died shortly after arriving at Frick Memorial Hospital in Mount Pleasant. Mrs. Patricia White of Jones Mills and Mrs. Catherine Kintner of Donegal were in critical condition at Somerset Community Hospital.

Ambulances and turnpike vehicles pressed into emergency service rushed the injured to the two hospitals.

BRAKES FAILED

"They really had them packed in there," a spokesman at Frick Memorial said. Eleven persons were taken there, five were treated by doctors at the scene and the rest were transported to Somerset.

The bus carrying 38 persons, mostly children who were pupils at the Donegal Elementary School.

State police said the vehicle's brakes failed as it approached the toll booth at the Donegal Interchange in the western part of the state.

Its brake fluid leaked out after a bracket holding the exhaust pipe broke, letting the hot pipe rest on the brake hose and crack it, they said.

The total retail sales value of domestically consumed photographic goods in West Germany amounts to approximately $250 million each year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A committee of 11 scientists reported Monday the "population explosion" is a crucial problem with in the United States. They urged the government to take a bigger role in promoting birth control.

The scientists called for appointment of a high-level administrator to push public and private programs. Their views were in a report to the National Academy of Sciences.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress Tuesday for $101 million for water resources research and said predictions of possible serious shortages in the future must not come true.

Johnson asked the money for the committee on water resources research of the Federal Council of Science and Technology for use in the fiscal year starting July 1. The request compares with an estimated $75.2 million being spent for water resources research this fiscal year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plan to reorganize the Customs Service and eliminate 53 top jobs from political patronage went into effect Tuesday after Congress failed to block it.

A Senate move Monday to veto the plan failed 65 to 17. No vote was taken in the House.

Under the plan, the Customs Service will be reorganized with establishment of a series of regional offices. Johnson said annual savings would be $9 million.

U.S. Death Toll In Viet Nam 385

WASHINGTON (AP) — The combat death toll of U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam Tuesday reached 385 — equaling the battle deaths in the 1898 Spanish-American War.

The wounded toll in the Viet Nam war has reached a higher level than in the Spanish-American War.

In 1898, in a war lasting four months, 1,662 Americans suffered wounds.

According to the latest Pentagon figures, reflecting the wounded total through May 17, 2,176 American servicemen have been injured in combat in Viet Nam.

NEW CASTLE, Del. (AP) — Gen. Thomas Holcomb, 85, first Marine to attain four-star rank and former commandant of the Corps, died Monday. Holcomb, who served as commandant of the Marine Corps from 1936 to 1943, retired in 1944.

dent Johnson says civilian agencies saved $217 million the first three months of 1965 by reducing costs and improving operations.

He said this brings savings by the agencies to $500 million in the first nine months of fiscal 1965, which ends June 30. This is in addition to Defense Department savings estimated at $2.5 billion.

TRANSIT BILL ACCORD NEAR

By DAVE LEHERR
Associated Press Writer
HARRISBURG (AP) — House Democrats and the Scranton administration appear to have resolved their major differences over the mass transit bill and the role of operating subsidies.

Both sides were reported Monday to be nearing a compromise bill that would raise state appropriations for mass transit programs to $13 million for the first two years and incorporate operating subsidies on an emergency basis.

The announcement came after a four-hour meeting between administration aides and Rep. Martin P. Mullen, D-Philadelphia, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

The compromise apparently shaves the original administration bill in favor of one proposed later by House Democrats.

Mullen said the proposed amendments by the administration would be submitted to the Appropriations Committee and, if accepted, by written into the House bill.

Should the administration adopt the idea of operating subsidies, it would be a major departure from the stand taken by Gov. Scranton over the past two months.

DAVIS SALVAGE SALES
 Phone 762-6355 Waynesboro, Pa.

We can get it for you retail.

The suggested retail price for a new Volkswagen is $1595.*

And most authorized Volkswagen dealers have pretty much been selling at around this price.

But surprisingly, other people began selling them for a whole lot more.

And even more surprisingly, they got some takers.

We're very flattered if some people are willing to pay several hundred dollars more than we charge for a Volkswagen. But somehow we doubt that they'd be willing to if they were aware of the regular price.

Or the important things you get from an authorized dealer besides the car. (Admittedly, you have to pay a little less for them but they're worth it.)

All the comforts that go with a Volkswagen (and keep a Volkswagen going). Parts for it. Equipment for servicing it. Volkswagen factory-trained mechanics.

For the authorized dealer, the service is as important as the sale. We conform to rigid requirements for service facilities and standards of practice. (Which are aimed at making Volkswagen owning so pleasant it becomes habit-forming.)

That's the way we sell Volkswagens. With dependable service as much a part of the sale as the air-cooled engine.

That's the only way we like to see them sold.

We spent a lot of time and money building a good name for Volkswagen. It was several years before people could even pronounce it. We expect to live with it for many years to come.

So get your Volkswagen anywhere you please. But please don't think you're getting a valid impression of Volkswagen from anybody but an authorized dealer.

We're the only ones who care two cents about the car two minutes after it's sold.

STU MILLER SAVES WIN FOR ORIOLES; CHISOX LOSE

By DICK COUCH

Who floats like a butterfly and stings like a bee?

Stu Miller. Who else?

Miller, Baltimore's soft-throwing relief artist, danced through the Kansas City batting order for two innings Tuesday night, protecting the Orioles' 6-3 victory over the Athletics and running his own scoreless string through 11 consecutive appearances.

The victory, fourth straight for the Orioles, moved them within three games of the American League lead. First-place Chicago dropped a 7-5 decision to Detroit, Minnesota blasted Boston 17-5 and Washington swept a 7-3, 6-5 doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels over the AL night action.

Vic Davalillo drove in four runs with a pair of homers as Cleveland downed the New York Yankees 5-1 in an afternoon game.

Miller, who has been wafting his off-speed pitches past big-league hitters since 1952, saved fellow reliever Harvey Haddix' first 1965 victory with his two-inning stint against the Athletics.

Starting pitcher Milt Pappas had smacked a bases-loaded triple in the second inning and scored on Jerry Adair's single, giving the Orioles a 4-0 lead. Pappas, however, failed to survive the Athletics' three-run fifth. Haddix came on and checked the A's for 2-13 innings before giving way to Miller.

20 HITS FOR TWINS

Stu has allowed seven hits in his last 23 1-3 innings while saving three games and picking up two victories.

Al Kaline clubbed two triples and capped a three-run rally in the fifth inning with a run-scoring single as the Tigers handed the White Sox their fifth setback in six games. Successive doubles by Jim Northrup and George Thomas broke a 4-4 tie in the sixth.

The Twins exploded for 20 hits, including home runs by Earl Battey, Bob Allison, Tony Oliva, Zoilo Versalles and Jerry Kindall, to smash the Red Sox at Boston.

4 BOSOX HOMERS

The Red Sox hit four homers off Jim Grant but the Minnesota right-hander hung on for his fifth victory without a loss. Lee Thomas, Ed Bressoud, Gary Geiger and pinch-hitter Jerry Moses, a first-year catcher who had only one previous at-bat, connected for Boston.

Frank Howard's two-run upper-deck homer proved the difference in Washington's second-game victory over the Angels after three Senators homered against Fred Newman and two successors in the opener.

Davalillo, the League's leading hitter at .376, ripped New York starter Jim Bouton for a bases-empty homer in the first inning and a three-run shot in sixth. The little Cleveland outfielder also singled — running his two-game string to six straight hits — before flying out in the eighth.

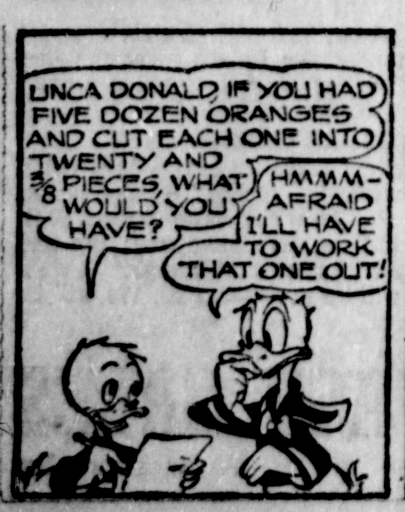

LONDON (AP) — Nuns at the Roman Catholic Convent of Our Lady of Sion introduced today a streamlined habit with skirt hems raised eight inches to a foot. The new garb also does away with the nuns' traditional large white, starched collar.

The headpiece is smartened up and pushed back off the shoulders to hang smartly down the back, showing more of the wear-

DON DRYSDALE STOPS CARDS WITH ONE HIT; GIBSON LOSER

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Like the March Hare in "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," Don Drysdale was late for a very important date.

Once he arrived, though, the St. Louis Cardinals knew it wasn't going to be any tea party.

When Drysdale got through with the Cardinals, they hadn't been in a fairy tale but in a nightmare. He stymied them on one hit — a scratch single — and ignited the rally that gave Los Angeles a 2-0 victory Tuesday night.

BREAK STRING AT 17

The loss knocked the Cardinals out of their wonderland existence. They had won seven straight games and 11 of their last 12 and hadn't been shut out this season.

The only hit off Drysdale came at the start of the game. Leadoff batter Curt Flood bounced a grounder off the big right-hander's bare hand and beat second-baseman Jim LeFebvre's throw to first. Only one other Cardinal reached base the rest of the way.

Explaining his tardiness for the adventure, Drysdale said: "I was so interested in listening to the Clay-Liston fight that I was two or three minutes late going out to warm up. I had to get ready in a hurry. I considered this an important game. We had to stop the Cards somewhere."

BUCS WIN AGAIN

St. Louis never got started. After Flood's hit, the 28-year-old veteran retired 14 consecutive batters. Then Dick Groat reached first in the fifth inning when shortstop Dick Tracowski let Groat's grounder go through his legs for an error. The final 13 Cardinals went down in order.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh edged Chicago 7-6 in 12 innings, Cincinnati defeated Houston 7-4, Milwaukee trampled San Francisco 14-1 and Philadelphia whipped New York 10-3.

Drysdale, winning his seventh game against three defeats, outdueled Bob Gibson, who suffered his first setback after eight victories. Two of the six hits off Gibson came in the eighth. Drysdale started the inning with a single, and after Wes Parker walked, Ron Fairly doubled them home.

REDS BEAT ASTROS

Andre Rodgers singled across Donn Clendenon with the Pirates' winning run in the 12th. Clendenon led off the inning with his fourth single and was sacrificed to second.

Don Landrum had given the Cubs a 6-5 lead in the ninth with a two-run double, but Gene Freese scored the tying run on Ted Abernathy's bases-loaded pitch.

Cincinnati defeated Houston on Tony Perez' three-run homer off Jim Owens in the ninth. Vada Pinson, who had four hits, slammed a three-run homer in the Reds' fifth. Sammy Ellis, now 7-1, stopped the Astros on five hits.

Mack Jones drove in four runs with two homers and a single, backing Wade Blasingame's five-hitter against the Giants. Jones' second homer triggered a five-run sixth inning against Masanori Murakami.

SENATE GETS POINT PLAN ON LICENSES

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill establishing a point system for driver's license suspensions has reached the floor of the Senate Tuesday but the possibility was held out that public hearings may be called on the measure.

The bill was released from the Senate Highways Committee, but no sooner had it been reported out than committee chairman George N. Wade, R-Cumberland, raised the prospect of the public hearings.

The bill was sent to the floor, Wade said, so that it could be given two readings and then returned to the committee for the "possibility of holding public hearings."

WADE IS SPONSOR

The bill, of which Wade is a prime sponsor, is designed to replace the state's present system of graduated schedules which provide warnings on the first offenses for lesser violations but stiffer penalties for the more serious violations.

Wade's bill would have a license suspended when a motorist violates 12 or more points for specified violations within a 3-year period.

A second suspension would be mandated when the motorist totaled eight more points in offenses within the following two-year period.

ANCHOR PUNCH

The moment the knockout was official Tuesday night Clay came to the ring apron and began to ask for Floyd, the man he calls "The Rabbit."

Afterward in the dressing-room interview Clay said: "Just as soon as we sign the contracts I'll give The Rabbit a chance."

Clay called the knockout blow his anchor punch, something he had worked out in secret with a camp follower, former movie comedian Step'n Fetchit, who borrowed it from former champion Jack Johnson.

Clay actually had brought up the anchor punch in his pre-hernia rantings last October between workouts at the Boston Arena.

OFFERS LESSONS

"It's a punch you can't see," Clay said. "Liston hit me with punches that would have knocked out Patterson."

"I never saw the punch," admitted retired former heavy king Rocky Marciano. "I kept my eyes on Liston and didn't see what hit him."

"Sonny went down a half a minute sooner than I expected," said Clay. "I warned all you people I had a surprise but that if I made a prediction it would drive all the people off."

"But Liston is a good loser. He'll be poor now. I'll try to comfort him. I'm going to take him aside and give him some lessons."

The winners collected seven hits, three by John Mohler, two of which were doubles and the other a triple. Dan Rodgers rapped a single and a double and Doug Short a pair of singles for the Orioles.

WR COMMENT FROM THE FIGHT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"The American public must be getting fed up. Horizontal British heavyweights can do better than that."

That was the comment from Henry Cooper, British heavyweight champion, after watching the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston title fight, beamed to London via Early Bird satellite.

The first big sporting event ever beamed live to Europe from the United States started at 3:30 a.m. — London time — and drew wry comments from two other British champions.

Tommy Farr, who lost a 15-round decision to then-champion Joe Louis, said:

"This is the blackest night in boxing — and I missed my beauty sleep to see this shocker."

Terry Downes, former middleweight champion, said:

"My wife Barbara can take a bigger punch than Liston."

HIPPO STIRS CONTROVERSY IN TEXAS TOWN

EDITOR'S NOTE—A controversial hippo in Texas, a crawfish duel in Louisiana and a canine fisherman in Ohio make up glimpses from the U.S. scene this week.

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP)—Betsy is homely and fat and she has a big mouth. But that just seems to make her more desirable to the men who are fighting over her.

They don't even mind when she eats like a 4,000-pound hippopotamus, because that's what she is.

Betsy came from the Prospect Park Zoo in Brooklyn to star in a zoo on land owned by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2410 in Harlingen, six miles from this lower Rio Grande Valley town.

Now the VFW and zoo curator Wilson Fry are going to court to battle for control of Betsy and about 50 smaller animals.

TOO BIG, TOO MEAN
The Brooklyn zoo sold Betsy for $400, or 10 cents a pound, to three Smith College girls because she was too big and mean. The girls quickly decided the zoo knew what it was doing. They sold Betsy to Fry for the same price.

It took three weeks, several broken crates and another $3,000 to get Betsy to Harlingen, where Fry promptly fell for her. "She's become a lot more gentle since we've had her," he said.

Then Fry decided to move Betsy away from the zoo—too much beer drinking going on around there, he claimed. VFW Commander Paul Darden said that was wrong and filed suit to keep Betsy and other animals.

Just before a process server showed up with a restraining order, Fry loaded Betsy back into her traveling crate and took her home with him.

Along with Betsy, into Fry's front yard went bears, Mexican ant eaters, monkeys and other animals.

A court is to hear the case

Adjourn Meeting To Count Ballots

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Reading Railroad's annual stockholders' meeting was adjourned Tuesday until June 7, to permit the counting of ballots in an undecided proxy battle for control of the company.

The management's slate of eleven candidates for the board of directors was challenged by nine other nominees headed by George J. Raskind, a New York broker. The Raskind faction contends that the Reading is illegally controlled by two other railroads, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio.

June 11.

CRAWFISH DUEL

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The senator from the Cajun country leaned across the aisle in Louisiana's skyscraper state Capitol and demanded satisfaction from the gentleman from New Orleans.

Sen. Adrian Duplantier, a champion of Creole traditions, accepted the challenge from Sen. Garland Bonin.

The two senators, both Democrats, will face each other May 31 in a crawfish eating duel. Their seconds are to work out the rules.

Bonin, touted as the Senate's champion crawfish eater, took offense — during arguments over the state's billion-dollar budget — when Duplantier questioned his right to the title. The challenge followed.

CANINE ANGLER

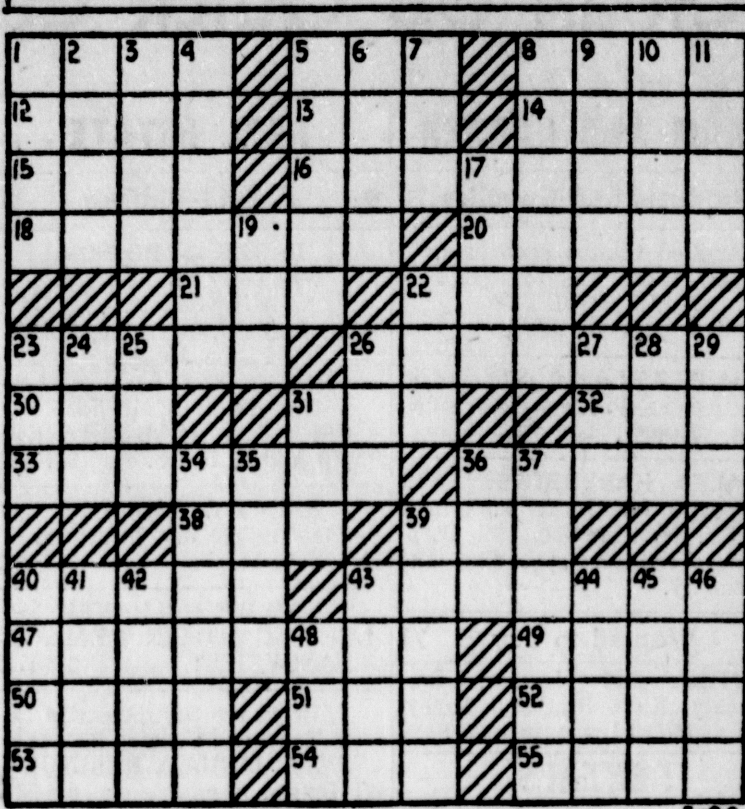

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Queenie, a water-logged English Shepherd with a Friday appetite, is by far the best angler of the nearby Joseph Lovey farm.

She takes all the fish she wants from Lovey's well-stocked ponds, especially bass and catfish which she savors.

Lovey says his furbearing Nimrod took to water-wading on her own and quickly mastered the art of submerged fish-snapping.

Queenie doesn't always eat her catch. Sometimes she fishes for fun, dropping her slippery prey back in for some future dinner.

LUTHERANS FACE DEFICIT OF MILLION

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Malvin H. Lundeen of New York, secretary of the Lutheran Church in America, said Tuesday the LCA had a deficit of $1,205,000 as of May 1, and faces an even deeper deficit "if the current trend of lagging contributions continues."

"In 1964," he told delegates to the Eastern Pennsylvania Synod Convention here, "we received more dollars because our budget was larger, but we dropped about two percent in budget achievement, against 1963. In 1963, we achieved 84.5 percent of our budget. In 1964, we achieved only 84 percent."

The conference was also told that the Eastern Pennsylvania Synod, numerically the largest with some 330,000 baptized members, had the lowest budget achievement — 71.6 percent in 1964—among the 31 synods.

PROGRAM CUT

Dr. Lundeen said the LCA has already been forced to curtail some programs because of the shortages in income.

In addition, he said, "the church has been almost at a standstill in membership growth in the last few years."

He said this was partly due to increased mobility.

In another development, Earl G. Keyser, a Negro and vice-president of the historic St. John's Lutheran Church in Easton, said Negro hopes of admission to full membership in "the main line Protestant denominations" remain unfulfilled.

Students Urged To Serve 1 Year

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey, opening a new drive for volunteers for the Domestic Peace Corps, has urged University of Minnesota students to "give a year of your lives in service to Americans who live in poverty."

The vice-president also spoke Monday at MacAlester College in St. Paul, where he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree at commencement exercises.

The French Academy, a body of 40 men, is charged with guarding the purity of the French language.

shire Sunday News said Shepard would be asked to run next year in an attempt to unseat Democratic Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre.
